

Bankers. streets where we have approved business paper certificates, payable in days; 5 per cent if left all means. Interest certificiability, $400,000
mar 8-day-fin pg

CO RICHARDSON, Cashier

g Company

Interest at the rate of 2 per discounted at current rates

er. C. J. SIMMONS, At's

COMPANY,

Atlanta, Ga., and at branches

Personal Property and Stock and

Branch will be opened in any district.

STREET, ATLANTA, GA.

Vice-President:

W. Assistant Cashier:

king Co.

ofits, $35,000

anks.

W. Blatton, Philadelphia

W. C. McElvee, Je

accounts of banks, bu

rnations and individualis is, and is a legal depository

McCarthy, Jr., Ca shis

ANKING CO.

BLDING,

anted by the legislati or, contractors and ates. The board of di orporations and

and trunks.

ocean Trunks.

anks.

ather Trunks.

or Valises.

ther Satchels.

Purses, Etc.

Gents

Toilet Cases.

adquarters.

& KAUFMANN,

UNK FACTORY.

92 Whitehall.

antels.

WE HANDLE LATH.

New-

Moulding,

and LUM-

Description-

Atlanta, Ga.

ANS

of old VIR-ents and con-

makes them

BICKART.

Telephone 378

PSON,

or

WINES.

INES

TOCK.

hly. Sole agent for

ON,

ATLANTA, GA.

KRANICH, Vice Presi-

en, Gen. Supl.

0.

Incorporated 1851.

USIC CO

WHITE

ORGANS

ES

& Co.

TORY,

anks.

promptly. We also

ATLANTA, GA.

House

now occupied by is now offered for well lighted and in ing is well adapted any other convenience and convenience for the company to refund railroad fare to

OME TELLING TRUTHS.

WHAT LEADING PAPERS SAY OF CHARLOTTE.

Extracts from Some Strong Letters Emphasizing Charlotte's Future—The Dilworth Land Sale.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 15.—[Special Correspondence Constitution.]—With a view of giving emphasis to what I have written about Charlotte and her future, I refer the readers of THE CONSTITUTION to the following well-written and truthful estimates of the worth of this coming southern city. Take with these a breaking capital of $1,750,000; thirty diversified industries, having a capital of $1,919,000; annual receipt of 178,500 bales; a yearly trade of $11,967,000; a tax rate that is lower than any point that I have investigated; an electric railway system that ranks among the finest in the south, and the cheap cost of living; pure water and noble and cultured citizenry, and it strikes me that you have city whose future cannot be overestimated.

CHARLOTTE'S GOLD AND EXPERTISE.

Mr. E. P. McKissick, the cultivated and big-hearted staff correspondent of The Charleston News and Courier, says, in a late letter to his paper:

"Menion was made in this correspondence for the gold mining industry in the immediate section around Charlotte, promises to develop and largely in the very interesting mine that was written I have had an interesting talk with several miners around here, and from what they say about the gold mine within a radius of seven miles around Charlotte, the mining industry will soon be one of the most important factors in the financial welfare of this city. It has been known for a very long time that Charlotte is the hub of the highest in mineral wealth of any in the state, and it is scarcely necessary to make the statement that the county is literally dotted with gold mines, some of which have been worked for the past seventy-five years. It is a fact that there are about sixty gold mines in this county, five of which are located in the suburbs of Charlotte. The gold is found in the soil, refreshing, yei, invigorating, to youth, blood and spirits, to say nothing of the insulation that comes with these, to see what strides the hub of the old North State is making. The enterprise, energy, push and never-say-die of these business men here is an object, as from, which can be learned many valuable lessons. It is glorious thought that the old south is still a living, and how much there will be no lagging behind in that progress which other sections are making, and he who would dare to think there will be any lack of achievement in this blessed section let him come to Charlotte, see an ideal progressive city and then be assured that the south is well on the way to becoming the standard of material and industrial progress."

CHARLOTTE'S RAILROADS AND PEOPLE.

One of the most thoughtful writers of my knowledge is Mr. J. D. Murrell, of The Richmond Times, who writes to his paper as follows:

"Six railroads center here, and Charlotte is the hub of the Richmond and Danville and the Western and Southern, and the Atlantic, Columbia and Augusta division of the Richmond and Danville, and the Air-Line division of the same, and the Western and Southern lines in the Western North Carolina and the Atlantic, Tennessee and Ohio division of the Richmond and Danville, and from the north the Virginia Midland and North Carolina divisions; from the east comes the Seaboard Air-Line, from Baltimore and Norfolk via Roanoke, from Wilmington and from the west comes the Western division of the Central and the Central road.

"There are also two important main trunk lines without crossing two or more railroads. From the south comes the Charlotte and Western, and the most southern, fast mail from Washington makes its first division, and here the fast New York passenger express finds its objective point.

"From no point of the compass can the city enter without crossing two or more railroads. From the south comes the Charlotte and Western, and the most southern, fast mail from Washington makes its first division, and here the fast New York passenger express finds its objective point.

"From no point of the compass can the city enter without crossing two or more railroads. From the south comes the Charlotte and Western, and the most southern, fast mail from Washington makes its first division, and here the fast New York passenger express finds its objective point.

"The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The readers of THE CONSTITUTION will remember that brassy and experienced writer, Mr. L. H. Patillo, who is now staff correspondent of The Augusta Chronicle. He says:

"My increasing acquaintance with the city continues to unfold treasures that would delight the heart of investment seekers. I consider it a fine place to live in a great city.

"The people of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and callous indeed must be he who does not heartily respond to such sincere cordiality, with a few fees of seeming sentimental influences, and acknowledge Charlotte to be a perfect exemplification of an ideal southern city. Too much cannot be said of its beauty and worth, and its people are so friendly, so kind, so thoughtful, that—well, it is just simply refreshing even to one who has been state to state for its hospitality.

The citizens of Charlotte are charming, and the stranger is met with a warmth and open-handed hospitality that delights the soul, and

THE CONSTITUTION.

PUBLISHED DAILY, SUNDAY AND WEEKLY.

The Daily, per year..... $ 0.00
The Sunday (20 to 30 Pages)..... 2.00
The Daily and Sunday, per year..... 2.00
The Weekly, per year (12 Pages)..... 1.00

All Editions Sent Postpaid to any address.

Contributors must keep copies of articles. We do not undertake to return rejected MSS., and will do so under no circumstances, unless accompanied by return postage.

NICHOLS & HOLLIDAY,
Eastern Advertising Agents.

Address, CONSTITUTION BUILDING, Atlanta, Ga.

DROP US A POSTAL.

If at any time your paper is not delivered, or if it is delayed.

Papers should be on the doorsteps of every city subscriber by 6 o'clock in the morning. If not somebody is at fault, and it is we want to know it.

If you fail to receive your paper, therefore, or if it comes late, DROP US A POSTAL at once, giving your address, and stating your complaint, which will receive prompt attention.

12 CENTS PER WEEK

For THE DAILY CONSTITUTION, or 50 cents per calendar month. Sixteen cents per week for THE DAILY AND SUNDAY CONSTITUTION, or 67 cents per calendar month; delivered to any address by carrier in the city of Atlanta. Send in your name at once.

Rated by Rowell's Newspaper Directory for 1891, in a classification of 5,000 more circulation than any Georgia daily newspaper.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 16, 1891.

The Kentucky Democrats.

To persons outside of the state of beautiful women, fine horses and Blue Lick water, the chief point of interest about the Kentucky convention was in regard to its action concerning the silver question. It was very well known, of course, that the rank and file of Kentucky democrats were in favor of free coinage, but it was also known that a very powerful pressure, having its origin outside the state, would be brought to bear to prevent the convention from expressing the views of democrats on the silver issue.

Both Mr. Watterson and Mr. Carlisle have been very active in their efforts to have the silver question postponed to some indefinite date, and it was undoubtedly out of respect to the wishes of these distinguished democrats that could be found even a minority in the Kentucky convention willing to suppress their views on one of the most important issues of the day.

It is impossible to perceive what the democrats of Kentucky, or the democrats of the country, could hope to gain by smothering or postponing an issue which so powerfully appeals to the best interests and the common sense of the people. It is true that Mr. Cleveland has announced and reaffirmed his opposition to free coinage, and it is also true that he is a prominent democrat whose successful administration of affairs has made him deservedly popular; but it should be borne in mind that democrats can have a proper respect for Mr. Cleveland's views and a profound regard for his honesty and ability, and at the same time differ with him in regard to an issue that is vital and pressing.

Editor Watterson is a distinguished democrat whose views are worth considering, but we submit that he is pushing matters too far when he suggests that such an issue as free coinage shall be postponed out of deference to Mr. Cleveland. Politeness in individuals is a beautiful trait, but we have never heard that political etiquette requires a great party to suppress its views and to postpone important issues in deference to the opposing views of an individual, no matter how popular and distinguished he might be.

AS THE CONSTITUTION has already suggested, it is worse than useless for democratic politicians to try to smother so important an issue as that which is involved in the free coinage of silver. Their failure will be worse than that which has followed the attempt in Kentucky. The silver question has no bearing on the local politics of any state, but we venture the prediction that, wherever democrats get together in the south and west, they will make haste to declare for free coinage; for the issue is a living one. It is pressed by the people, and the politicians will be compelled to fall into line.

The Rising Gulf of Mexico.

The New Orleans Times-Democrat prints and endorses a communication from Mr. John Smyth, in which the statement is made that the Gulf of Mexico is rising.

Mr. Smyth is something of an authority upon engineering matters, and while his proposition concerning the gulf is rather startling, it is admitted that his conclusions are supported by strong evidence. Our New Orleans contemporary says:

Mr. Smyth lays down the proposition that the Gulf of Mexico is rising slowly, but surely. He points out, for instance, the careful survey made by Colonel W. S. Campion a half century ago that shows that the Hatteras bench mark in the middle of the New Orleans and Carrollton railroad was 52 feet above the mean gauge reading in Lake Pontchartrain and the Gulf of Mexico had risen 7 feet.

This movement seems extraordinary, but is having, however, numerous surveys have been made to prove that the southern seas and inland gulf show a disposition to rise, while the northern ones are declining. Nothing, for instance, is better established than that the Adriatic and Mediterranean are rising. When marks at Venice prove the apparent rise of the Adriatic, it was at first thought that this might be due to the sinking of the land; but an examination of the Dalmatian coast, and of towns built on rock foundations, shows that the land has risen and maintained its level, but that the trouble was with the sea, which was rising. On the other hand, we have equally satisfactory evidence that the Baltic is receding or declining.

The matter calls for a very thorough investigation. If the gulf is certain, in the course of a few centuries, to make any considerable advance northward and westward, the fact ought to be made known. Possibly at some time in the distant future some of our present inland cities will be seaports, while our gulf towns will be many fathoms under the sea.

It is just as easy to humbug people now as it was in the Dark Ages. Edward Pinter, of New York, is in jail in London for swindling people calculations and speculations that may be based upon the inland movement of the gulf. High and dry Atlanta came into the world, and high and dry she will probably remain until the end of time. This high and dry business is a big thing.

How About This?

The New York Herald calls attention to the fact that the judges of the Queen's Bench in London have just decided that it is no violation of the lottery and betting laws for a newspaper to offer and pay a prize or sum of money to the person first naming the winner in a coming horse race.

The governor said that he himself was the only man who had a right to say whether any foreign troops should enter the country, and the president argued the matter with him, but the general maintained his point stoutly and carried it, too. And it was by his permission that the Mexican soldiers attended the reception at El Paso.

IN VIRGINIA it is expected that the Farmers' Alliance will press a general dog law through the legislature.

A FEW GEORGIA EDITORS.

The American Times-Recorder is putting in some excellent work for Speaker Crisp to be. And in this connection it may be remarked that the fine hand of Bascom Myrick is visible in the editorial columns of our American contemporary. It goes without saying that Americans now has the best paper she has ever had.

"We shall have this year," said the editor, "a large number of festive processions;

"A load of wood in its way is good;

"And so is a mass of greens;

"But the good Lord never intended.

That this generous people should

Have one meal less for the sake of the press—

"So I leave them—the greens and wood!"

For a few days past Mr. Sam E. Whitmire, late of The Brunswick Times, has been doing editorial work on The Rome Tribune. It is rumored that he will accept an editorial position on the paper.

Under the new management of The Times, the Brunswick poets are blossoming like the marshes of Glynn.

A Georgia editor, who has offered a premium for the best snake story, adds: "This is the only way we can locate the moonlight distilleries in this country."

Not satisfied with its famous purple spring edition, the Madisonian continues to get out a big paper every week. This week's issue is especially notable for its size and the variety of its contents, though it was not intended to be a 'special' edition.

"TO MEMORY DEAR."

The old hand press is sure to fade

Before this age so lost;

But we'll remember it hath made

Impressions that will last.

For half the great men of this world,

Whose names are written on high,

The ink roller oft has whirled

And made the frisket fly!

The editor of The Pickens County Herald says:

"Once upon a time an editor who had not a dollar on his back nor a rag in his pocket was hauled in an oxcart and dropped on the streets of a north Georgia town. He might devoutly quote the poet: 'We are here, and here to stay' for by Saint Patrick, he couldn't get away."

Referring to the recent proclamations that the end of the world is at hand, the editor of The American Times-Recorder says: "Let her go, Galaher!" It was only a typographical error. He doubtless meant "Gabriel."

The following items are taken from this week's issue of the bright Chattooga News:

The prettiest thing we have seen in dress goods this year is the summer girl.

"Easies in the air" were taxable property, now that the tax is off.

It takes an unusually able editor to always write bright, sensible articles, and intelligent readers to appreciate them when written.

A prominent citizen reads as follows:

"You kick the bucket; we do the rest."

It is presumed that a man who can give such cool advice as this does not need ice in his business.

GOSSIP IN THE STATE.

The return of Representative J. R. Hill, of Cherokee, from the alliance has provoked a lively discussion in the local newspapers. In the last issue of The Canton Advance Mr. Hill writes a card in which he explains the reasons for his withdrawal; but it appears that the local critics are not done with him yet, for in the same issue, and under his card, appears a communication criticizing him and bidding him a humorous farewell.

There was probably nothing in this statement, for the latest number of Judge, one of Son Russell's publications, has a cartoon in which Mr. Blaine is made the subject of a vicious caricature. He is represented as trying to cross a stream on a reciprocity plank, but finds the republican chicken house fastened with a lock bearing the portrait of Harrison. A pictorial editorial by B. Gillam is as stinging as a prose editorial by Son Russell, and it may be said that the fight between the Blaine and Harrison factions is on, with every prospect that Harrison will go to the wall.

The feeling is so intense that Mrs. Blaine, who is with her husband in New York, recently took occasion to inform the newspaper reporters that every line of the Italian correspondence was written by Mr. Blaine himself with his own hand.

It seems to be a considerable row that Son Russell has kicked up.

AS TO free silver, Mr. Watterson builded better than he knew. The unfeared democracy of Kentucky is practically solid for free coinage.

The coming of silver dollars will stop on the 1st of July. The law that thus does the business for the silver dollar was voted for by the free coinage republicans of the west. A smiling group they would make in a tin frame.

AS MR. HARRISON comes east he must be struck with the frequent mention of Blaine's name in the newspapers.

In COLORADO Mr. Harrison failed to touch on free silver. John Sherman had probably given him points about the situation out there.

QUAY IS to have a close conference with the president in a few days. Quay is a very bad man, but he is the republican leader, and Mr. Harrison finds him necessary in his business.

McKINLEY WILL NOT cut much of a figure among the Ohio farmers when they learn all the distressing facts about his tariff law.

SOMEBODY was sat down on Son Russell's wicked partners.

TATE WILL be trouble when Mr. Halstead and his friends discover who is sending the good out of the country.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

When the last forces insurrection in this country to be written in English there will be few mistakes. Out in Nebraska, Druggist Stevenson has been found guilty of manslaughter because he killed Miss Carrie Easely by giving her corrosive sublimate on a prescription calling for calomel. The physician wrote "hydrog chlor." If he had wanted corrosive sublimate he would have written "hydrog biclor." A careless clerk might easily make a mistake.

LAST WEDNESDAY several hundred persons assembled at Jamestown, Va., to commemorate the past of that celebrated spot. No trace of the first English settlement in the United States remains except a few small gravestones. It is proposed to review the old Jamestown society and have an annual celebration.

"WHICH WIN?" is the title of a Farmers' Alliance novel just published. The story deals with the wrongs of the farmers and their present reform movement. Some of the greatest reforms in modern times have been started and carried through by novels. "Don Quixote" started out the young men of Spain. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" turned the world against slavery. "Nicholas Nickleby" reformed the English country schools. "Never too late to mend" improved the English penitentiary system, and several other notable fictions have played a part in politics and in social life. A first-class alliance novel would help the cause more than anything else.

LAST WEDNESDAY several hundred persons assembled at Jamestown, Va., to commemorate the past of that celebrated spot. No trace of the first English settlement in the United States remains except a few small gravestones. It is proposed to review the old Jamestown society and have an annual celebration.

"WHICH WIN?" is the title of a Farmers' Alliance novel just published. The story deals with the wrongs of the farmers and their present reform movement. Some of the greatest reforms in modern times have been started and carried through by novels. "Don Quixote" started out the young men of Spain. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" turned the world against slavery. "Nicholas Nickleby" reformed the English country schools. "Never too late to mend" improved the English penitentiary system, and several other notable fictions have played a part in politics and in social life. A first-class alliance novel would help the cause more than anything else.

LAST WEDNESDAY several hundred persons assembled at Jamestown, Va., to commemorate the past of that celebrated spot. No trace of the first English settlement in the United States remains except a few small gravestones. It is proposed to review the old Jamestown society and have an annual celebration.

"WHICH WIN?" is the title of a Farmers' Alliance novel just published. The story deals with the wrongs of the farmers and their present reform movement. Some of the greatest reforms in modern times have been started and carried through by novels. "Don Quixote" started out the young men of Spain. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" turned the world against slavery. "Nicholas Nickleby" reformed the English country schools. "Never too late to mend" improved the English penitentiary system, and several other notable fictions have played a part in politics and in social life. A first-class alliance novel would help the cause more than anything else.

LAST WEDNESDAY several hundred persons assembled at Jamestown, Va., to commemorate the past of that celebrated spot. No trace of the first English settlement in the United States remains except a few small gravestones. It is proposed to review the old Jamestown society and have an annual celebration.

"WHICH WIN?" is the title of a Farmers' Alliance novel just published. The story deals with the wrongs of the farmers and their present reform movement. Some of the greatest reforms in modern times have been started and carried through by novels. "Don Quixote" started out the young men of Spain. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" turned the world against slavery. "Nicholas Nickleby" reformed the English country schools. "Never too late to mend" improved the English penitentiary system, and several other notable fictions have played a part in politics and in social life. A first-class alliance novel would help the cause more than anything else.

LAST WEDNESDAY several hundred persons assembled at Jamestown, Va., to commemorate the past of that celebrated spot. No trace of the first English settlement in the United States remains except a few small gravestones. It is proposed to review the old Jamestown society and have an annual celebration.

"WHICH WIN?" is the title of a Farmers' Alliance novel just published. The story deals with the wrongs of the farmers and their present reform movement. Some of the greatest reforms in modern times have been started and carried through by novels. "Don Quixote" started out the young men of Spain. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" turned the world against slavery. "Nicholas Nickleby" reformed the English country schools. "Never too late to mend" improved the English penitentiary system, and several other notable fictions have played a part in politics and in social life. A first-class alliance novel would help the cause more than anything else.

LAST WEDNESDAY several hundred persons assembled at Jamestown, Va., to commemorate the past of that celebrated spot. No trace of the first English settlement in the United States remains except a few small gravestones. It is proposed to review the old Jamestown society and have an annual celebration.

"WHICH WIN?" is the title of a Farmers' Alliance novel just published. The story deals with the wrongs of the farmers and their present reform movement. Some of the greatest reforms in modern times have been started and carried through by novels. "Don Quixote" started out the young men of Spain. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" turned the world against slavery. "Nicholas Nickleby" reformed the English country schools. "Never too late to mend" improved the English penitentiary system, and several other notable fictions have played a part in politics and in social life. A first-class alliance novel would help the cause more than anything else.

LAST WEDNESDAY several hundred persons assembled at Jamestown, Va., to commemorate the past of that celebrated spot. No trace of the first English settlement in the United States remains except a few small gravestones. It is proposed to review the old Jamestown society and have an annual celebration.

"WHICH WIN?" is the title of a Farmers' Alliance novel just published. The story deals with the wrongs of the farmers and their present reform movement. Some of the greatest reforms in modern times have been started and carried through by novels. "Don Quixote" started out the young men of Spain. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" turned the world against slavery. "Nicholas Nickleby" reformed the English country schools. "Never too late to mend" improved the English penitentiary system, and several other notable fictions have played a part in politics and in social life. A first-class alliance novel would help the cause more than anything else.

LAST WEDNESDAY several hundred persons assembled at Jamestown, Va., to commemorate the past of that celebrated spot. No trace of the first English settlement in the United States remains except a few small gravestones. It is proposed to review the old Jamestown society and have an annual celebration.

"WHICH WIN?" is the title of a Farmers' Alliance novel just published. The story deals with the wrongs of the farmers and their present reform movement. Some of the greatest reforms in modern times have been started and carried through by novels. "Don Quixote" started out the young men of Spain. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" turned the world against slavery. "Nicholas Nickleby" reformed the English country schools. "Never too late to mend" improved the English penitentiary system, and several other notable fictions have played a part in politics and in social life. A first-class alliance novel would help the cause more than anything else.

LAST WEDNESDAY several hundred persons assembled at Jamestown, Va., to commemorate the past of that celebrated spot. No trace of the first English settlement in the United States remains except a few small gravestones. It is proposed to review the old Jamestown society and have an annual celebration.

"WHICH WIN?" is the title of a Farmers' Alliance novel just published. The story deals with the wrongs of the farmers and their present reform movement. Some of the greatest reforms in modern times have been started and carried through by novels. "Don Quixote" started out the young men of Spain. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" turned the world against slavery. "Nicholas Nickleby" reformed the English country schools. "Never too late to mend" improved the English penitentiary system, and several other notable fictions have played a part in politics and in social life. A first-class alliance novel would help the cause more than anything else.

LAST WEDNESDAY several

SAMPLES

A Drummer, having completed his trip, sold us his samples of BURMESE WARE at less than half price. You can have them at the same reduction, and a lot of them can be seen in our South window—prices in plain figures.

FREEMAN & CRANKSHAW.

We have unequalled facilities for the manufacture of Spectacles and Eye-Glasses. We grind Lenses, plain or compound.

FAULKNER, KELLAM & MOORE,

Scientific Opticians

88 Marietta Street, Old Capitol Building.

Every Month

many women suffer from Excessive or Scant Menstruation; they don't know who to confide in to get proper advice. Don't confide in anybody but try

Bradfield's Female Regulator

A specific for PAINFUL, PROFUSE, SCANTY, SUPPRESSED and IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION.

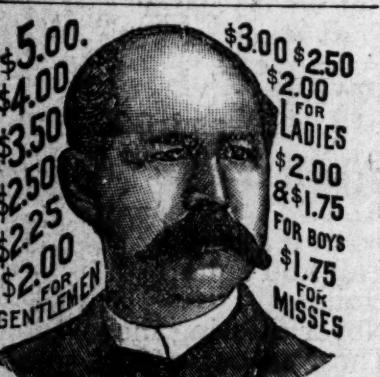

Book to "WOMAN" mailed free. BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga. Sold by all Druggists.

Name this paper. ap-21-d&w tomorrmr

SKIN DISEASES
SWAYNE'S OINTMENT

An absolutely CURES Skin Disease, Internal and External. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25c. Box, $1.25. Address, Dr. SWAYNE & CO., Philadelphia, Pa. Ask your druggist for it.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 SHOE and other special shoes, ladies, ladies, ladies, etc., are worn, and are worn on bottom. Address
W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass. Sold by Chamberlin, Johnson & Co.
No. 66 and 68 Whitehall street, Atlanta, Ga.

Young Man Are You Prepared for the Emergency?
Without a diamond ring you will never arrive at that degree of happiness, by this sketch from life. Confidentially, we desire to say that we can adjust this matter economically for you. Our diamond ring is a diamond, and your figures that there is no reason why you should not be against a contingency. Come and see us about it. J. P. Stevens & Bro., dealers in diamonds and wedding stationery.

VEHICLES

FLANDRAU & CO.

Downtown Repository, 372, 374, 376 BROAD ST.
Uptown Repository, BROADWAY, 51st ST. and 7th AVE., NEW YORK.

ELEGANT CARRIAGES of the Best Class.

POB TOWN AND COUNTRY.

Carriages, T Carts, Mail Phaetons, Landaus, Landauettes, Wagons, Wagons, Gigs, Gigs, Don-a-Dos.

ALL NOVELTIES IN NATURAL WOOD, AND PAINT, FOR ONE AND TWO HORSES.

LIGHT VEHICLES FOR ESTATES AND COUNTRY DRIVING.

MINIATURE TRAPS, ALL KINDS, FOR CHILDREN.

Making the largest and most diversified assortment of Carriages in the United States.

LOWEST PRICES FOR PROMPT CASH. LARGEST STOCK AND WAREHOUSE IN THE WORLD.

OVER 100 SECOND-HAND CARRIAGES IN ABOVE STYLES.

Correspondence Invited.

ITEMS OF THE RAIL.

THE CELEBRATION AT KANSAS CITY
MAY 27TH.

The Georgia's Short Line from Atlanta to Easton—Twenty-three Miles of the M. D. & S. Road in Operation.

The Carolina, Knoxville and Western railroad came to grief in the United States court at Charleston last week. A motion filed by Major James F. Hars, of Yorkville, in behalf of the National bank, of Augusta, started the proceedings. Upon the motion, which alleges the failure to pay the interest on the first mortgage bonds of the road, the court signed an order appointing Mr. P. T. Hayne, of Greenville, temporary receiver, and ordering the company to show cause why this receivership should not be made permanent.

The city of Fort Smith has issued elegant and unique invitations to railroad men, and others, to visit their city on May 27th. The celebration is to be in honor of the completion of the great railway and highway bridge across the Arkansas river at that place. The bridge is the longest in the southwest. It is 2,380 feet long, has thirteen piers, including a draw pier; contains 3,800,000 pounds of steel and iron, and has wagon and foot accommodations. The bridge is of vital importance to the city of Fort Smith, as it is the connecting link between the northwest and the waters of the Gulf. The completion of the bridge assures that city of an air-line from Omaha, Neb., to Galveston, Tex.

The second day's session of the Order of Railway Conductors was probably productive of more important results than any action taken by the organization since its inception. By an almost unanimous vote they decided to join the Federation of Railway Employees. This is significant, as the organization heretofore has never affiliated with any other railroad society.

The Macon and Covington railroad has been notified by the city of Macon that it must run into the union depot, by some other route than that already employed.

The Macon and Covington now runs into the union depot, as has been announced to the public, but it seems that in order to get there the track has been laid over squares forty-seven and forty-eight, at the foot of Poplar street, over which they have no right of way.

The road from Macon to Covington is graded and ready for the iron, and it is proposed to complete it at once, which will give a short line from Atlanta, over the Georgia railroad, to Easton. As soon as that portion of the road is finished the Seaboard Construction Company will extend the line eastwardly to Tennille, to connect with the Central railroad at that point.

The Macon, Dublin and Savannah road is being pushed rapidly. Fifty-three miles have been built from Macon to Dublin, twenty-three miles is in operation from Macon to Jeffersonville, and the work is going on at the rate of a mile a day.

Manager Green of the Georgia railroad, has supplemented the rolling stock on the Athens branch, which has been heavily taxed recently by new trains and heavy loads, by fitting a train to run from the fast-line service on the Athens branch, and in a few days the new train will be running regularly between Athens and Union Point.

The corporators of the Smithsonia, Danielsville and Carnesville railroad will meet on the 25th instant and organize. The citizens of Danielsville are making strong efforts to secure the road.

The following record of the net earnings of the Georgia road for the last months ending March 31, will be of wider interest:

Earnings from passengers..... $ 422,284.81
Earnings from freights, mail and express..... 1,100,017.96
Gross earnings..... $ 1,522,244.81
Expenses..... 938,127.52
Net earnings for nine months..... $ 584,117.29

The train on the East Tennessee to the Brunswick convention leaves Atlanta Monday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock instead of 2:45 o'clock in the morning, as published in the Atlanta Journal.

The Georgia railroad brought a party of the High school at Atlanta yesterday. They spent the day at Grant park and returned to Covington in the evening.

NEWS IN SOCIETY.

The Daughters of the American Revolution, recently organized in Atlanta, met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Henry Jackson, on Mitchell street.

This was the first regular meeting held since the inception of the society here some weeks ago. owing to the fact that Mrs. Jackson, the regent, was thought to be absent from the city, and that the meeting was not generally known to be in contemplation, a full attendance of the members was not had.

The Daughters now number thirty names on their roll, about two-thirds of the membership being present at the meeting yesterday afternoon, as follows: Mrs. W. L. Peeler, Mrs. Hoke Smith, Mrs. Albert Cox, Mrs. Scruchins, Miss Salie Fannie Grant, Miss Lillie Orme, Mrs. Thad Hammond, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Annie McKinley, Mrs. Porter King, Miss Pattie, a descendant of George Washington; Mrs. Smith, Miss Corinella Jackson and Mrs. Jackson and others.

The society as yet has no regular programme of exercises, but the first meeting will be prepared. Mr. Grant, the secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting and interesting letters from the national chapter at Washington city, which were listened to with great appreciation by those in attendance.

Mrs. Peeler was appointed by the meeting to read at the next assembly an historical paper pertaining to revolutionary and colonial times, after which the society adjourned to meet hereafter on the 15th of each month at the residence of Mrs. Henry Jackson.

A pretty, piquant and interesting little visitor has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Collins on the Boulevard, and a happy home is that in consequence. The little one will be called Louise.

GREENSBORO, Ga., May 15.—[Special]—Miss Pinkie Hart, of Union Point, is on a visit to relatives in Augusta.

Dr. J. E. Walker and his sister, Mrs. N. T. Robinson, are on a visit to friends in Decatur, and will also spend some time in Atlanta and Dalton before returning home.

Mrs. Homer Holiday, of Washington, visited her sister, Mrs. C. A. Davis, Jr., this week.

The Twilight is the name of a social club among the young boys and girls. Their meetings are full of pleasure. Last Friday evening they met at the residence of Mr. W. G. Armon, and enjoyed a most delightful time.

Mr. J. Keene, of Macon, visited our city this week, the guest of Mr. C. A. Davis and family.

Mr. M. Z. Andrews, of Crawfordville, spent several days in Greensboro with relatives.

BARNESVILLE, Ga., May 15.—[Special]—Yesterday, at the home of the bride's parents, in Monroe county, Miss Dottie Collier and Mr. C. O. Summers, of Barnesville, were united in marriage.

There is danger in impure blood. There is safety in taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. 100 does one good.

The fashionable ladies' corrective tonic in Angostura Bitters, the world-renowned tonic of Dr. J. G. Siegent & Sons.

Everybody ought to know, if they don't, that a disordered liver, stomach or bowels are responsible for a multitude of ailments. Remedy: Bile Beans, or Bile Beans Small for children or the delicate.

Perfect Satisfaction.

I desire to call my friends' and the public's attention to the excellent work I am now turning out in the way of tailor-made clothes. My entire office help are experts in their different lines. I guarantee to do work as well and at a cheaper rate than you can get it elsewhere.

I have a ready-made very large assortment of elegant patterns. I am prepared to accommodate you both as to quality, style and prices. My store is No. 3 on Alabama street. Call and see me today, and with pleasure I will show you what I have in store. I am just what you say. Harry E. Marion Merchant Tailor.

ALL NOVELTIES IN NATURAL WOOD, AND PAINT, FOR ONE AND TWO HORSES.

LIGHT VEHICLES FOR ESTATES AND COUNTRY DRIVING.

MINIATURE TRAPS, ALL KINDS, FOR CHILDREN.

Making the largest and most diversified assortment of Carriages in the United States.

LOWEST PRICES FOR PROMPT CASH.

LARGEST STOCK AND WAREHOUSE IN THE WORLD.

OVER 100 SECOND-HAND CARRIAGES IN ABOVE STYLES.

Correspondence Invited.

You should use

Cleveland's Baking Powder

Because: It is not only free from Lime and Alum, but also from Ammonia and Tartaric Acid.

Because: The materials used are the best that science can produce and are beyond question perfectly wholesome.

Because: All the ingredients are plainly printed on every label; information which other manufacturers are afraid to give.

CLEVELAND BAKING POWDER CO.,
Dr. C. N. HOAGLAND, President. NEW YORK.

1865 SPECIAL SALE 1891

BIG DRIVE IN

FOLDING BEDS

Office Desks, Sideboards and Fine Chamber and Parlor Suites.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

Over 300 Beautiful Parlor Suites that must be sold. The biggest bargains ever shown in Atlanta.

Don't miss it Friday and Saturday.

PEYTON H. SNOOK.

LEGAL NOTICES.

Notice to Debtors and Creditors

All credits of the estate of Geo. M. Funnison, late of Fulton county, deceased, are hereby notified to render in their demand to the undersigned according to law, and all persons indebted to him are advised to make immediate payment. Atlanta, April 11, 1891. E. P. HARRIS, Administrator.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.—Ordinary's Office, May 1, 1891. Bartow M. Blount has applied for letters of administration on the estate of Lucius J. Garrell, deceased. This is the same, to notify all persons of the date of his death, and to advise him to file his will in the probate court, if he has one, on or before the first Monday in June next, else leave will then be granted as applicant, as applied for. W. L. CALHOUN, Ordinary.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.—Ordinary's Office, May 1, 1891. Annie D. Brockton, guardian of Charles E. Brockton, has applied for leave to sell certain lands of said deceased, described in her petition, and to make a will in the name of the same. The court, therefore, to notify all persons of the date of his death, and to advise him to file his will in the probate court, if he has one, on or before the first Monday in June next, else leave will then be granted as applicant, as applied for. W. L. CALHOUN, Ordinary.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.—Ordinary's Office, May 1, 1891. John J. Falvey has applied for letters of administration on the estate of Edward J. Falvey, deceased. This is the same, to notify all persons of the date of his death, and to advise him to file his will in the probate court, if he has one, on or before the first Monday in June next, else leave will then be granted as applicant, as applied for. W. L. CALHOUN, Ordinary.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.—Ordinary's Office, May 1, 1891. Robert E. Hoyt, guardian of Carrie E. Hoyt, has applied for leave to sell certain lands of said deceased. This is the same, to notify all persons of the date of his death, and to advise him to file his will in the probate court, if he has one, on or before the first Monday in June next, else leave will then be granted as applicant, as applied for. W. L. CALHOUN, Ordinary.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.—Ordinary's Office, May 1, 1891. Myra H. Boynton, as administrator of Charles E. Boynton, has applied for leave to sell certain lands of said deceased, described in her petition, and to make a will in the name of the same. The court, therefore, to notify all persons of the date of his death, and to advise him to file his will in the probate court, if he has one, on or before the first Monday in June next, else leave will then be granted as applicant, as applied for. W. L. CALHOUN, Ordinary.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.—Ordinary's Office, May 1, 1891. Myra H. Boynton, as administrator of Charles E. Boynton, has applied for leave to sell certain lands of said deceased, described in her petition, and to make a will in the name of the same. The court, therefore, to notify all persons of the date of his death, and to advise him to file his will in the probate court, if he has one, on or before the first Monday in June next, else leave will then be granted as applicant, as applied for. W. L. CALHOUN, Ordinary.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.—Ordinary's Office, May 1, 1891. Catherine E. Boynton, as administrator of Charles E. Boynton, has applied for leave to sell certain lands of said deceased, described in her petition, and to make a will in the name of the same. The court, therefore, to notify all persons of the date of his death, and to advise him to file his will in the probate court, if he has one, on or before the first Monday in June next, else leave will then be granted as applicant, as applied for. W. L. CALHOUN, Ordinary.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.—Ordinary's Office, May 1, 1891. Catherine E. Boynton, as administrator of Charles E. Boynton, has applied for leave to sell certain lands of said deceased, described in her petition, and to make a will in the name of the same. The court, therefore, to notify all persons of the date of his death, and to advise him to file his will in the probate court, if he has one, on or before the first Monday in June next, else leave will then be granted as applicant, as applied for. W. L. CALHOUN, Ordinary.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.—Ordinary's Office, May 1, 1891. Catherine E. Boynton, as administrator of Charles E. Boynton, has applied for leave to sell certain lands of said deceased, described in her petition, and to make a will in the name of the same. The court, therefore, to notify all persons of the date of his death, and to advise him to file his will in the probate court, if he has one, on or before the first Monday in June next, else leave will then be granted as applicant, as applied for. W. L. CALHOUN, Ordinary.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.—Ordinary's Office, May 1, 1891. Catherine E. Boynton, as administrator of Charles E. Boynton, has applied for leave to sell certain lands of said deceased, described in her petition, and to make a will in the name of the same. The

SAM SMALL'S WAY.

CALLS HIS ENEMIES RASCALS, AND PROPOSES TO PROVE THEM SO.

A Unique Display of Pyrotechnic English. A Sniff of Billingsgate—The Suit He Filed in the Utah Courts.

business. Two stock of Cloth worthy of the Clothing and right now and at HATTERS WORKS, chists.

ATLANTA, GA.
ers and Tanks. Smoke Rubbing Beds. Gold on. All kinds of iron marble.NS,
MARBLE DUST.
lime.
CLAY.

KING, Sec'y and Treas.

ply Co.,
Dealers in chinery, Tools ttings and Brass for Corrugated Roofing. Wood
discounts.
GA.

nery Co.,

Marietta Street.

Washington, D. C.
Cor. 7th & B Sts.

5th & B Sts.

5th &

NAIL IT TO THE MAST!

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 1, 1891.

R. E. Sibley, Esq., Secretary and General Manager Empire Mutual Accident Association, of Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—As there seems to be some misunderstanding of my withdrawal from the directory of the Empire Mutual Accident Association, of which you are secretary and general manager, I deem it proper and just to you and the association to say that my withdrawal was in no way due to any lack of confidence in you, or the association under your management, but was simply because my engagements were of such a nature as to prevent me from giving the office I held the attention it should receive. Nothing more. I regret very much the misunderstanding of my action, and wish you and your association great success. Very truly yours.

R. M. FARRAR.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 1, 1891.

R. E. Sibley, Esq., Secretary and General Manager Empire Mutual Accident Association, of Atlanta, Ga.: Dear Sir—As there seems to be some misunderstanding of my withdrawal from the directory of the Empire Mutual Accident Association, of which you are secretary and general manager, I deem it proper and just to you and the association to say that my withdrawal was in no way due to any lack of confidence in you, or the association under your management, but was simply because my engagements were of such a nature as to prevent me from giving the office I held the attention it should receive. Nothing more. I regret very much the misunderstanding of my action, and wish you and your association great success. Very truly yours.

R. M. FARRAR.

Agents wanted to work for the Empire. We give good contracts. We pay promptly. Agents have no trouble in getting business for the Empire.

Every traveling man should have a few of our application blanks in case of need.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

JONES.—The friends of Mrs. O. H. Jones and family, are invited to attend the funeral of her daughter, Miss Bessie Jones, from Trinity church, this (Saturday) morning at 10 o'clock. Interment at O. K. and...

MEETINGS.

Notice.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 5, 1891.—By order of the board of directors of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and in accordance with a resolution passed April 6, 1891, bonds numbered 40, 91, 96, 110 are deposited with the Atlanta National Bank, treasurer, Paul Romare, at Atlanta National Bank. Notice is hereby given that interest on above said bonds ceases after June 30, 1891.

RUFUS E. BULLOCK, President.
H. G. SAUNDERS, Secretary.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

BONDS, STOCKS AND MONEY.

CONSTITUTION OFFICE,
ATLANTA, May 15, 1891.

New York exchange buying at par; selling at $1.00@

25¢ to 100¢. The following are bid and asked quotations:

STATE AND CITY BONDS.

Atlanta, 1880-1900, 110

to 20 years—100 102½ Atlanta, L. D. 110

New Ga. 5½%, 100 103

100 103 100 103

New Ga. 4½%, 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

100 103 100 103

